

Pending University admission

Namaste,

My name is Himani. I am 18 years old and was born in India in 1995. I belong to a poor family. I have only one brother and no sister. My father is still drinking a lot. He use to beat us and my mother used to do everything to look after us. She use to go early in the morning to the shop and sit there all day long to earn money to feed for us. My father did nothing. He only used to drink. In my home I have seen many things as my father used to fight with my mom every day and I don't want to remember those days. After my mom came to Ramana's and worked here then Prabha Ji told my mom to bring us here.

After coming here I got an education, food, clothes and I love to be here. I feel very lucky to be in Ramana's Garden. It is like a heaven for me. Ramana's provides free education for the poor children in the village. It gives food, education, books, pens and pencils, and the entire requirements for school so that the children can study to make a better future for themselves. I have learnt a lot here like yoga, dance, arts and crafts, and how to help other people.

This is my last year of high school. Soon I am going to be in college. I want to be a fashion designer and design fashionable clothing. I want to make new clothes for the new generation and open my own clothes business. My mind has always been on fashion design. I will work hard to be a fashion designer.

I want to help my mom and other women who are being beaten by their husbands who are nasty and I also want to help Ramana's children by sponsoring children. I want to help those children who don't have parents. I have seen so many children who need education and I want to help them to get a good education.

Thank you so much.
